TRAINED SPECIALISTS FOR BUREAU OF COMMERCE

Washington, Sept. 5.—Reorganization of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce into industrial divisions with trained specialists at their heads to aid the country's overseas commerce is rapidly nearing completion, according to Secretary Hoover.

The industrial divisions with trained specialists at their heads to aid the country's overseas commerce is rapidly nearing completion, according to Secretary Hoover.

The industrial divisions were created, Mr. Hoover explained today, to give expert direction to the bureau's staff of foreign agents as to the services which will be most helpful to the branches of industry.

Thirteen divisions have already been established: fuel under H. C. Morris of Washington, D. C.; leather under Arthur Butman, of Boston; transportation under E. S. Grege of Galveston; textiles under Edward T. Packard of New York; industrial machinery under Walter H. Baxall of Dayton; agricultural machinery under George B. Taylor of Jamaica, N. Y.; electrical machinery under R. A. Leland of Minneapolis; rubber under F. L. Palmer of New York; iron and steel under W. S. Tower of New York; commercial law under Arthur C. Wolfe of New York; lumber under Axel Axelsson of San Francisco; and the automotive division under Gordon Lee of Rochester, N. Y. Other divisions are to be added including chemicals and specialties.

WINNHAM COUNTY LEADS

IN TUBERCULIN TESTING

Dr. George E. Corwin of Hartford, the deputy state commissioner, received a letter from William S. Warren, the secretary of the Wintham County Holstein-Friesian association, in which he suggests that the cattle commission department should clean up from tuberculosis a county or a district at a time. Mr. Warren says that Wintham county is doing more tuberculin testing and is showing more interest in the work of eradicating tuberculosis from cattle than any other county in the state.

In his reply Dr. Corwin commends Wintham county for the work it is doing and suggested that every county should have a similar organization. He also informed Mr. Warren that every facility which the state controlled would be at the service of his association for the eradication of tuberculosis from cattle. He congratulated the association and Wintham county on having the first area in Connecticut where the eradication of tuberculosis was a great deal of activity among owners of herds throughout the state to stamp out tuberculosis in cattle. The liberal appropriation of $140,000 made by the general assembly at the last session for the testing of herds and the compensating of owners for condemned animals has given an impetus to the movement for the eradication of tuberculosis. The state is assisted by the federal government which pays one-third of the difference between the amount paid the owner and the value of the animal. The maximum amount paid for pure bred cattle condemned is $125 and for graded cattle $100 per head. The average amount is considerably less than either sum.

OBITUARY

Mrs. William H. Shields.

Mrs. Selma M. Shields, wife of Lawyer William H. Shields, of 170 Washington street, this city, died on Saturday, Sept. 3, in the Nantucket Cottage hospital, Nantucket Island, Massachusetts. The body was brought from Nantucket by ship and rail to Norwich on Monday. Mrs. Shields had been spending some weeks at Nantucket with Mr. Shields. About a week ago she became ill with a severe cold, which was followed by a complication of internal troubles that terminated in her death.

Mrs. Shields was the daughter of James M. and Mrs. Mary K. Miller, was born in Albany and spent her childhood years with her parents in Farmington Village. Subsequently the family came to Norwich where Mr. Miller pursued his legal studies. He was a peace gardener and florist. He was known by the older residents of Norwich, whose places he had designed and laid out. A great amount of knowledge of gardens and flowers.

Mrs. Shields was active in charitable works, for which she spent much of her own time and means. She also distributed large sums entrusted to her for the relief of the poor. She was a member of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Patrick's church and was for years chairman of the ladies' visiting committee from that parish to the St. Mary's hospital in New York City, of which she was greatly interested.

Mrs. Shields was a discriminating reader of the modern novel and her opinion in questions bearing on recent fiction was frequently sought.

Surviving Mrs. Shields are her husband, her daughter, Mrs. Henry S. Bagdell, two sons, Thomas M. Shields and William H. Shields, Jr., and four grandsons, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Shields.

Miss Mary T. Shea

Miss Mary T. Shea of 15 Summit street died on Sunday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Ferris, in New York City. Miss Shea had been visiting her aunt when taken ill about ten days ago.

She was born in this city on April 12, 1897 the daughter of John W. and Johanna Mack Shea. She was educated in the school of this city and for some time was employed by the City of Norwich. She was a member of St. Patrick's church and took an active interest in the affairs of the parish.

Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, John and Charles Shea, Joseph V. Shea, both of which Mrs. Shea was a young woman of pleasing disposition and one who had a large circle of friends. It is with sincere regret and sympathy for her family that local friends learned of her death on Monday.

FUNERAL

John Royston.

Monday morning at 8:15 o'clock the funeral of John Royston was held at his home, No. 35 Broad street. In St. Patrick's church, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, officiating. The service was held at 8:15 o'clock. The casket was borne by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, two assistant pastors. The music was directed by Organist Frank L. Farrell. Mr. Royston was a young man of pleasing disposition and one who had a large circle of friends. It is with sincere regret and sympathy for her family that local friends learned of her death on Monday.

BURIAL

John Royston.

Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being Paulman Timothy J. Driscoll, Thomas P. Callahan, Thomas P. Mullin, Daniel J. Mullin, also Edward McConney and William T. Maloney, who represented the Foresters. The committal service was read by Father Galvin.

Among the flower bearers was a beautiful pillow from the Foresters and a handsome basket sent by the Springfield, Mass., employees of Charles B. Ring, Mr. Royston's employer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ring from Springfield and Mrs. Royston's cousin, William Doonan, and daughter, Miss Geraldine, from Boston, were among relatives attending the funeral.

Cummings & Ring had charge of the arrangements.

WEDDING

BETWEEN 2,000 AND 13,000 AT COUNTY FAIR ON OPENING DAY

Between 2,000 and 13,000 people thronged the fair grounds here Monday, the opening day of the 67th annual fair of the New London County Agricultural society. The day was ideal, the big throng of pleasure seekers was jolly and good natured and the day proved one of the most successful opening days in the history of the fair society. The crowds arrived early and stayed late and the day was one of real enjoyment for all. The thousands on hand made one of the big days in the history of the fair but was about 3,000 less than the largest day last year.

Throughout the afternoon thousands of people, hailing from towns all over eastern Connecticut and even from a number of towns in Rhode Island, visited the numerous exhibits from the fair. The sheep and poultry shows to the vegetable, farm machinery and domestic exhibits. The big exhibition hall was crowded the greater part of the afternoon.

Much to the disappointment of the fair officials, the Cook's Victory shows failed them as they did not put in an appearance in spite of the fact that they signed a contract to show at the fair grounds all three days of the fair. However there were attractions in plenty for all. As it was the midway is larger and has more attractions this year than any other year. For that matter so did all the stands, lunch counters and lunchrooms.

Long before 2 o'clock the hour when the grand stand and bleachers were crowded to capacity and late comers found it impossible to locate seats.

It was estimated that there were over a thousand automobiles in the grounds. The majority of the machines were parked in the inclosure inside the race track. James P. Sheridan had charge of the parking.

BIG CATTLE EXHIBIT

About 300 Head on Grounds Including Prize Stock in Various Breeds

The cattle sheds are filled with a fine variety of choice stock from many parts of the country. The exhibit is full of interest for the visitors who made a tour of the sheds to inspect the 300 head of stock shown.

Jerseys lead all other breeds in the number shown. The best exhibit of this breed that has been seen at the fair in years. In the first sheds near the main gate, Mrs. L. S. Robertson of Quaker Hill is exhibiting for the first time a herd of twelve, headed by a three year old bull, Noble Royal Talisman III, and including the 13 year old cow Quaker Balm, which is the foundation of the herd as all are her daughters or granddaughters.

Frank L. Lathrop of Norwich has a three year old bull, Braeburn's Oxford Raleigh, a bull calf, Polly's Oxford King and a thoroughbred cow, Viola's Golden Pigeon, besides several grade Jerseys.

J. H. Murphy of Medford shows a Jersey bull 1 year old and under 2, and a heifer calf and cow.

Arthur S. Barrett of Ledyard has a fine looking bull under 1 year old, Ledyard Butterfield, a heifer, Foxy Dorothy, and two calves.

The Storier farm P. S. Shobers, Norwich, exhibits a 2 year old bull Noble Royal Talisman III, besides yearlings and a cow.

Clark Standish of Lebanon attracts attention with his Jersey bull under six months sired by Kathleen's Oxford Male.

Bert Hewitt of Unassville shows a two year old black Jersey bull, which came from the famous herd of the late Mr. J. E. Lathrop of Raymond Hill, who has 23 head in his herd, headed by the 4 year old bull Balm-Fern Laddie, grand champion at the fair last year. There is also a fine lot of calves, headed by a yearling under 2, both bulls coming from the Robertson herd. The exhibit also includes eleven milk cows all the get of Noble Royal Talisman, 5 heifers, grand daughters of the grand champion of this same sire, and four calves which are the get of the herd bull. Literature upon the Jerseys is attractively displayed and furnishes much interesting information. The exhibit is largely arranged by Mr. Lathrop's son Austin.

Guernseys.

J. B. Palmer of the Round Hill farm, Lisbon, is the owner of the exhibit of Guernseys, with a herd of 25, which includes the 4 year old bull, Jewel, Mr. Palmer is unable to attend the fair this year because of illness but his cattle are shown by Mr. J. B. Palmer's son, Frank L. Lathrop.

Frank L. Lathrop also shows a grade Guernsey calf and steer calves, and J. H. Murphy has a grade Guernsey cow, grade Jersey cow and grade Ayrshire cow.

Ayrshires.

Grant & O'Brien of Tataville have a remarkably fine looking lot of Ayrshires in their herd of 25, which includes the 4 year old bull, Jewel, Mr. Palmer is unable to attend the fair this year because of illness but his cattle are shown by Mr. J. B. Palmer's son, Frank L. Lathrop.

Frank L. Lathrop also shows a grade Guernsey calf and steer calves, and J. H. Murphy has a grade Guernsey cow, grade Jersey cow and grade Ayrshire cow.

Herefords.

C. A. Gager, Jr., of Norwich, shows his handsome 6 months old Hereford bull, Montville Master, with a pair of steers, cow and his calf and grade cow and calf.

J. Lawrence Raymond of Lyme has a herd of 34 on exhibition, mostly Herefords, with a few grade Holsteins and Guernseys. His herd leader is the 2 year old bull, Laddie, and he has a 6 months old bull, Brookfield Dandy.

Holsteins.

A. F. and E. N. Gardner of East Green Plain are the Holstein exhibitors with a herd of 3, including a 2 year old bull, cow and calf.

J. B. Brigham of New London has a grade Holstein cow and calf.

Devoys, which have not been seen at the fair for several years, are represented this year by a fine looking herd of 15 exhibited by O. B. Carpenter of Eastford.

Oxen and Steers.

A pair of fat oxen are shown by E. A. Lofin, of Norwich. Tryon Lathrop of Raymond Hill has 2 year old steers, Walter Blackett of Great Plain shows a yoke of oxen and J. B. Palmer of Lisbon exhibits several yokes.

Hogs.

J. B. Palmer leads in the display of hogs, showing about 25 Berkshires, including several sows with litters.

John A. Schwartz of Norwich Town exhibits one O. L. C. grade sow with litter of 8 pigs a week old, one 3 year old bar and a grade cow.

J. H. Murphy of Montville has a red Duroc Jersey boar, and Edward Reid of Plainfield exhibits a Berkshire boar.

Alvin Lathrop and Tryon Lathrop have an entry in the juvenile department of Berkshire pigs, born on the 4th of April.

Sheep.

The sheep pens display about 70 from the flock of J. B. Palmer of Lisbon, of half a dozen different breeds, and F. E. Gardner exhibits a Dorset ram and ewe.

FARM MACHINERY

Labor Saving Devices For the Home and the Field Are Exhibited

The display of farm machinery, electrically operated and gasoline driven, electric lighting systems, and other systems for rural districts, together with other farm implements and appliances attracted no little attention on Monday. While the majority of the visitors to these exhibits were the visitors from the rural districts where such modernisms are fast becoming a necessity if the farmer is to keep abreast of the times, there were hundreds of the city folk that enjoyed the exhibit.

In his usual stand near the main exhibition hall is Carl W. Brown, local agent for the DeLco-Light systems and appliances. In this exhibit there are several models of lighting systems, some for the small house and others for the larger places where everything on the place is driven by electrical current. A water system is also shown in several places. In the electric lighting system, an electric incubator and other electric household appliances such as flat irons, fans, toasters and other things for the housewife are shown. Assisting Mr. Brown at the exhibit is Edward Dugan of the Boston office.

The J. B. Barstow Co. has an exhibit of the Round Oak furnace that burns either coal or wood, easily installed and operated. It is a very economical and courteous young man in charge of this economical heating plant.

S. W. Leffingwell of this city has a splendid and attractive display of International farm machinery and farm accessories. The machinery includes a spreader, milker, separator, disc harrow, spring harrow, plows, mowing machine, binder and numerous smaller implements. The several models of lighting systems, electric and machinery, including engine cutters, corn shellers and grinders. There are also several saw engines and tractors.

Fred W. Backus shows an improved lightning arrester device which is guaranteed to keep the lightning under control and keeps the house barn or other buildings in perfect safety.

The Fairbanks-Morse gas engines, lighting systems, water systems and other gas and electric appliances are shown by the T. H. Eldridge company of this city. Besides the Fairbanks goods are the Monarch water system, engine cutters and other accessories for the rural home. The White Florence Oil stove is also exhibited here and is the last word in all stoves. R. H. Montgomery is in charge of the exhibit.

The Jordan Hardware Co. of Williamstown exhibits a vacuum electric lighting system. Empire milkers, washing machines, Louden feed carrier, horse pitch fork and other implements. Several models of engine cutters are shown here. R. H. Zimola, a former Norwich boy, is in charge of the exhibit.

"Everything from a locomotive to a package of carpet tacks" is the boast of the Connecticut Machinery and Sales Company although in their exhibit there were no locomotives and the only carpet tacks in evidence were those used in tacking up signs. However outside the locomotives and tacks there seems to be most everything. There are several models of water systems, engine cutters, corn shellers, milking machines, and hundreds of smaller things. Mill supplies and household appliances are shown. George E. Clapp is in charge of the exhibit.

The C. S. Merick Company of New Haven, for many years exhibitors at the New London County fair, had a well balanced exhibit of farm machinery. The farm machinery included a Cleveland tractor, motor driven farming implements and other farming appliances. A Laidley lighting system is shown in operation as is a water system. The Nova gas engines in several sizes and no little interest as did the pumping systems operated by these engines. Harry Glynn of New Haven is in charge of the exhibit.

John J. Coleman of New York shows

John J. Coleman of New York shows his new water system and the electric lighting unit. This exhibit is in charge of the local representative, Samuel Briggs and Charles McNeil.

W. P. Holmes of Griswold, agent for the Brackett Shaw and Lunt Co. of Manchester and Worcester, shows the General Lighting system together with several motor driven pieces of farm machinery. There is also a water system and other appliances for the rural home. H. P. Pashnell exhibits the Pine Tree milkers which is electrically operated or by gasoline.

The Norwich Plumbing and Supply house shows the Koller lighting unit and the Burke water pump system.

Another novelty never seen at the fair before is the fireproof portable garage which is exhibited by Charles E. Whitaker and Son. This garage is of sheet galvanized metal and is just up in sections. It is absolutely fireproof and rain tight. This garage is one that requires little attention, looks well and above all is serviceable and lasting.

Fred McWhittie Co. shows the Neponset roofing materials and other novelty roofing and other building novelties. Frank Davis and Henry P. Woodmansee. The automobile exhibit this year is rather small, only a few cars being exhibited. The Packard car is shown in two models by the Packard agency in New London. Mr. Spoor of New London is in charge.

The Buick car in three models is shown. The chief attraction in this exhibit is the snappy looking and powerful sport car. This is the 6-56 Dayton model. With 66 horse power this car did 102.5 miles per hour at Daytona Beach recently. The other two models are a heavy and light touring. David E. Shahan, Harold A. Callahan and John Morse, factory representatives, are in charge.

The Buick is shown by the Norwich Buick Company in charge of Louis Maples. The Buick is shown in several models.

The Norwich Motor Sales Company shows several models in the Studebaker car and this exhibit attracted considerable attention.

Taylor Trucks and tractors are shown as well as International trucks and several other makes.

POULTRY, PET STOCK

1921 Fair Has Largest Entry List in Some Years

Underneath the grand stand was the poultry and pet stock exhibit, with the largest entry list for some years, including chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, pigeons, canaries and rabbits.

The judges in the poultry exhibit were H. W. Schriver of Groton and J. H. Dredgen of Plainfield.

H. W. Schriver of Groton had the largest entry in chickens, having thirty eight varieties and won sixteen prizes. His specialty was Jersey black stantons.

Mr. Schriver had the best pen in the hall. F. W. Compstone of Waterford was awarded a prize for the best bird in the exhibit, a single comb Rhode Island cockerel. He also exhibited Rhode Island Red, B. Whites and several ducks. Harry Main of North Stonington exhibited 15 different varieties in the town. A special attraction was

GIRLS! LEMONS

WHITEN SKIN AND BLEACH FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quart of pink and harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

MANY CONNECTICUT VISITORS

TO RHODE ISLAND SHORES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5.—The excellent weather of the past week, together with the fact that it was the first one before Labor Day when the season began to enter upon its last lap, coupled with the extra week-end day afforded by the holiday, sent many to the Narragansett bay resorts. It was one of the busiest weeks and week-ends of the summer and the visitors from eastern Connecticut were the most numerous of any time this season.

Mrs. Mary Young of Stafford Springs, formerly Miss Mary Young, has been visiting the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lynch, of St. Paul street, Blackstone.

Miss Caroline Crowley of Norwich is spending a few days with relatives at Oakland Beach.

Miss Evangeline Roy of Norwich is the guest of Misses Mollie and Christine Logue at their cottage at Lake Nipmuck.

Walter Barber and family of Sterling were guests at the Homestead Stock Farm, at North Scituate, last week.

CHECK AND FIREMEN

FROM CHAS. R. BUTTS

Chief Howard L. Stanton is in receipt of a check and letter of appreciation from Charles R. Butts of Washington D.C. in recognition of the services rendered by the local department at the recent fire at the Butts' home. The check will be added to the Firemen's Pension Fund.

Sterling Postmaster Reappointed.

B. D. Parkhurst, postmaster at Sterling for the past twenty years has been reappointed by President Harding. The Sterling office advances from fourth class to third, January 1, 1921, and has been remodelled to fill the requirements of the post office department.

"EASTER RIDING"

In various parts of Bohemia, now the principal state of the new Czechoslovak republic, a curious old custom prevails, that of "Easter Riding." On each Easter day at 4 o'clock in the morning, the riders assemble dressed in black and carrying crosses flags and other emblems. From Schönbach they proceed on three-hour's ride to Kulin, where they attend service. The priest, after a sermon wherein he refers to the horse as a symbol of power bestows his benediction on the animals and their riders. This done, the riders visit the neighboring castles, where they receive hospitality, subsequently making their way home, escorted by a band and a large crowd. The origin of this curious custom is lost in the mists of antiquity.—Exchange.
